No Homework Policy

"Homework should never replace a teaching opportunity in the classroom" At Sanjivani International School we strongly encourage learning by doing. The child is in the most active mode while at school and the maximum constructive learning takes place during the school hours. Hence, we at Sanjivani have a no Home Work Policy. Any work done extra as practice work is completed during the school hours itself and the child can completely relax and focus on his/her hobbies and interests once he/ she reaches home. To ensure the implementation of this policy, following steps are taken :

1	The curriculum is made interesting by teachers. Children are not burdened with heavy school bags and a lot of homework. At the primary school level the emphasis is on learning right values and acquiring numerical and language skills. 'Circle Time' sessions provide children opportunities to understand the importance of values and of making the right choices. They learn to communicate with others and develop self-confidence.
2	In the initial stages, focus is on oral language development. Gradually other skills are integrated into the curriculum. Activity based teaching makes learning enjoyable. Children are taught drawing and craft that sharpen motor skills.
3	Students will still have their daily folder with suggestions/resources on concepts they can practice on throughout the school year, but will not be turning in any homework to their teachers. We encourage our students to read books, study spellings and words, and to enjoy quality time with their families.
